The belief that only medicines are capable of curing diseases, after the implementation of the Flexner report in 1913, in which both doctors and patients have the belief in their hearts that only the medicines manufactured by the pharmaceutical industry are scientific and can cure diseases is the purpose of this article [1,2].

In the article written by Egnew (2005) entitled The Meaning of Healing: Transcending Suffering, the author is saying that he physicians became curer of diseases and not healers of sick. Healing process in a holistic view is not very well discussed in the medical literature nowadays and this is what we will discuss in this article [3].

The sentence written in the title is a thought of Hippocrates (c. 370 BC - c. 460 BC), father of Medicine, that said that natural forces within us are the true healers of the diseases [4].

Recently, the author was perplexed to feel how people today are with the mindset and belief that manufactured drugs to treat cancer and other diseases are the only way to cure cancer and all these diseases. Seems that there is a fear inside their heart that if they do not take that medication, they will not be cured of this or other diseases [5].

But we know that although they are manufactured to treat such cancerous pathology, this kind of medication would be contributing to cause greater energy deficiency in the patient, because it is considered a highly concentrated medication, and the use of this kind of medication nowadays were well explained by Arndt Shultz Law's theory. In this theory created by two German researchers in 1888, they are saying that highly concentrated drugs reduce the vital energy (that is the energy important to prevent formation of cancer, according to traditional Chinese medicine (TCM)) and also, written by Huang (2020) in the article The Importance of Treating Energy Imbalances and Chakras Replenishment for Prevention and Treatment of Cancer and in the second article she wrote (2021) entitled Can We Cure Cancer without Chemotherapy, Radiotherapy or Surgery? [6].

In both articles, the author is showing cases reports of patients with cancer that cured from their diseases only rebalancing the internal energies of Yin, Yang, Qi and Blood and taking out the Heat retention. The deficiencies of these energies and formation of internal Heat are the cause of all cancer formation in traditional Chinese medicine and using tools in TCM, such as Chinese dietary counseling, auricular acupuncture associating with apex ear bloodletting and replenishing the energy of all internal massive organs of the Five Elements Theory (Liver, Heart, Spleen, Lung and Kidney) are very important measures that all physician can use nowadays to restore the internal energy of our patient, that is very compromised due to the influences of the electromagnetic waves in our lives. This data was published by Huang (2021) in the article entitled Energy Alterations and Chakras' Energy Deficiencies and Propensity to SARS-CoV-2 Infection [7].

One of these patients reported in the article The Importance of Treating Energy Imbalances and Chakras Replenishment for Prevention and Treatment of Cancer, was a 70-year-old patient who was diagnosed with thyroid cancer in 2018, in addition to having diabetes, high blood pressure, obesity and diabetic retinopathy [8].

In the interval between the diagnosis of the pathology and the surgery, about two to three months, the patient underwent daily acupuncture sessions to balance her emotional and energy state, which was very compromised due to the diagnosis of malignant cancer [8].

The patient underwent daily acupuncture sessions, and received Chinese dietary counseling. The author measured the energy of this patient's chakras' energy centers who revealed that all chakras were without energy, rated one out of eight, with the exception of the seventh chakra (spiritual) that was normal, rated in eight [8].

After two months of intensive treatment, she underwent to surgery to take out her thyroid malignant tumor and the surgeon asked for a frozen biopsy that revealed that her malignant cancer became benign [8].

Chakras are energy concentrations that are invisible to the naked eye that sends energy to the organs that each one commands, for their proper functioning of each system. For example, the Kidney (second chakra) is responsible for the production of Yin and Yang energy. The Spleen (fifth chakra) is responsible for the production of Blood; the Heart (third chakra) is responsible for regulate and control the blood flow inside the vessels; the Lung (fourth chakra) and Liver (first chakra) are responsible for distribution of Qi or prana (in Ayurvedic medicine) in the entire body [8].

In this specific patient, she presented all different diseases but the energy imbalances that were causing her diseases were the same that was Yin deficiency and Heat retention. In TCM, the same energy imbalances can lead to different manifestations and one diseases can come from different energy imbalances also. These energy imbalances were causing the formation of diabetes, arterial hypertension, obesity, diabetic retinopathy and cancer at the same time, as Huang (2019) is showing in the article Why Are Diabetic Patients Still Having Hyperglycemia despite Diet Regulation, Antiglycemic Medication and Insulin? and in the article she wrote (2019) entitled Energy Alterations as the Underlying Cause of Primary Hypertension. The last article Huang (2021) wants to demonstrate is entitled Are the Changes that Generate Diabetic Retinopathy Really Inside the Eye? [9-11].

The treatment that the author did restoring the energies that were missing in these organs, were responsible for the cure of the cancer that the patient had with this treatment, and after this treatment, it was not necessary to remove the thyroid anymore [8].

The same happened with another patient who had a grade 4 cell alterations in a pap smear in the routine exam, in which she cured this problem only by rebalancing the internal energy and taking out the internal Heat (through Chinese dietary counseling and auricular acupuncture associating with apex ear bloodletting and replenishment of energy from the chakras' energy centers using homeopathy medications according to the theory Constitutional Homeopathy of the Five Elements Based on Traditional Chinese Medicine). Using this theory, the physician can treat the patient in the root of all problems at the same time, even the doctor does not know that the patient has such symptom. This theory was firstly presented in the 71^o LMHI Congress in Buenos Aires in August 2016 and in the same year, the author presented again in the European Congress for Homeopathy in Vienna, in November 2016 [12,13].

In addition to cancer, all chronic diseases currently have in common these deficiencies of internal energies in all five massive organs, demonstrated in a diverse article written by the author, and the balance of these energies and replenishing them using homeopathy medications, can lead to healing of the process of this disease (atopic dermatitis, diabetes type 1 and 2, high blood pressure, autoimmune diseases, depression, panic syndrome, anxiety, myocardial infarction, strokes, all types of cancer.) because what all they have in common nowadays is the lack of chakras' energy centers [9,10,14].

The treatment restoring these energies has rebalanced all internal imbalances, generating a healing process for most pathologies today [9-11,14].

So the phrase that Hippocrates (c. 370 BC - c. 460 BC) said in the past, has a lot of sense nowadays in which the use of so-called scientific medicines, has caused even greater reduction of vital energy and therefore, they should be used with great caution in the treatment of these patients today, who are very sick, due to the lack of energy, as demonstrated in the article Huang (2021) wrote entitled Is the Population in the World the Same as in the Past? [15].

In the treatment of COVID-19 patients, who are suffering from this disease, the author demonstrated thought the study that she did in Brazil, before the pandemic period, that the majority of the population she is attending is considered immune compromised patients and not immune competent, as many physicians are thinking, due to the general lack of energy in all internal five massive organs that is responsible for the production of Zheng-Qi and all the internal energy necessary for the health of the human being. This lack of energy is weakening the immune system and that the replenishment of these energy, gives the body back energy that is essential for the healing process, that is causing the formation of the majority of diseases nowadays. These explanations were done by Huang (2021) in the article Is SARS-CoV-2 Strong or Our Body Is Weak? [16].

As said by Hippocrates, “we must treat the patient and not the disease”. Another quote from him is “it is more important to know which kind of patient we have than to know which kind of disease the patient has.” In these phrases, he is saying that it is important to treat the root of the problems, that is usually not treated by Western physicians nowadays (that is usually only treating the leaf level of the tree- that is the metaphor that Huang used in all her articles and presentations to show the different viewpoints that we must address nowadays, in the treatment of all infections and no infections conditions), as demonstrated in many article she wrote (2021) such as What Flexner Report did to Our Medicine After 100 Years of Implantation? [5].

If we only treat the disease and not the patient, we will be treating the symptom but the cause that generated the disease is not being treated and many times when highly concentrated medication is used to treat the symptoms, the doctor will be damaging even more the vital energy that is already low in these patients and worsening or forming other diseases as we have today when these drugs are used, as demonstrated by Huang (2021) in the article entitled Energy Alterations and Chakras’ Energy Deficiencies in Dementia Patients [17].

So, to conclude this article, Hippocrates at that time was emphasizing that we have natural forces inside our body that is responsible for the maintaining of our health and it is only the responsibility of the doctor to give conditions to the patients to aid this resistance and overcome these metabolic imbalances and restore the harmony and health of the body, in the treatment of any kind of diseases nowadays [18].
