Abstract

This report is essentially about two rather seemingly simple realizations. One is about the essential meaning of about what really the concept of Chakras entails. The other is the awareness about just what the concept of consciousness is actually all about!

Keywords: Astrological Earthline (AE); Neurochemistry;

Introduction

Yes, I am aware of the fact that I am a male human being in the middle of the 79th year of my life as the very insignificant person that I am in the human scheme of things and presently located in the central Texas Hillcountry just northeast of San Antonio. I live in the unincorporated area known as Sattler just south east of Canyon Lake, Texas. This is relevant to this discussion simply because this area is located just east of my personal Astrological Earthline (AE) known as "Saturn on the Descendent". This area is also just east of my personal AE known as "Sun on the Imum Coeli". Both of these terms are those of Astrocartography. This introductory information will allow you the reader to perhaps begin to know and perhaps understand the information that follows, that is if you use the information provided appropriately. You will also need to look up the stated meanings of the Astrocartography references in order to understand their relevance to this discussion. However, it is nonetheless relevant to this discussion that these facts were personally gleaned after receiving my mainstream higher education (PhD).

I have no wish to sound as an Ass but I am sure that you have all heard the parable of turning a sow's ear into a silk purse! It is so very difficult to relate personal experiences that are so very much out of the ordinary realm of consciousness to the vast majority of people! Am I also being a complete Ass in thinking that anyone would be interested in what I am about to impart? Judge for yourself. I seem to have the desire to possibly stimulate an enquiring mind!

Discussion

I taught myself to read at age 3 years. I read everything and anything that I could get my hands upon. I absorbed my maternal Grandfather's book collection and some 20 years of National Geographic by age 7 years. He resided in San Diego, CA and I was born in Riverside, CA on 02 March of 1943. Anyway, I seemed to just simply absorb any and I do mean any and all information! So when I took the entrance exams to be able to go to College I was in the top 7%, in the entire nation, of those that took the same tests that year. University was a breeze and I always took every course that I could in the Biological, Chemical and Physical Sciences. I was not at all interested in the "Joke" courses labeled as the Humanities. I still am amazed that they are included in College coursework. Maybe I am weird that I also always found mathematics quite boring. To me math was always simply a tool and not really a science "per se". Thus I have never understood why people would elevate a tool to the status of a science! Tools are only tools and science is a process that utilizes tools! Or am I just weird?

My doctoral dissertation was pioneering in the field of what became categorized as Neurochemistry. The work was involved in the beginning stages of what would evolve to become known as neurotransmitters. I was ahead of my time and which seems to be the trend for the rest of my life! Unfortunately at the present time I am so far ahead of current scientific thought that I very much doubt that anyone realistically understands what I allude to even though I use 8th grade Nor Am (North American English). I also never understood why people would rever a tool rather than the creative process that utilizes tools to discover the rules of the universe. However I very much do understand that we definitely do need to use the very best tools available! I guess that is what enterprising engineers are for, to discover and make better tools. All the above to show you the reader that I personally have been upon a lifelong journey of discovery by what almost seems to be an actual guided tour!

I have been actively meditating since the age of 4 years old. This is being a skill that I brought into this current lifetime. Hence, the process of becoming “enlightened” took place from summer of 2020 till November 2021 in stages. The first was gaining the awareness of the body Chakras, Basal to Throat Chakras (Sunny Red to Sky Blue), dealing with the Enteric Nervous System and thus the workings of the care of the overall physical body and anatomical structure. The 2 head Chakras (Violet-Indigo, White) dealt with the Central Nervous System (Spinal Cord and Brain or CNS). Also, the Sunny Red Chakra dealt with the skin nervous plexes, the Sunny Orange Chakra dealt with the muscle nervous plexes, the Sunny Yellow Chakra dealt with the abdominal and pelvic nervous plexes, the New Leafy Green Chakra dealt with the heart nervous plexes and the Sky Blue Chakra dealt with the throat nervous plexes, all of the ENS. The Violet/Navy Chakra dealt with both the hippocampal brain plexes (violet) and the cerebellar nerve plexes (navy). The White Chakra is the sum total of the brain cortex (and supporting glial cells) of the CNS. This awareness allowed me to gain a semblance of conscious control of my personal ENS that I am able to monitor and adjust in a daily exitant manner.

Finally came the awareness that the origin of the idea of “god” was in fact simply a conscious awareness of the generalized background flow of the so called “Birkeland Magnetic Current” (BMC). This actively flowing Universal current flows into the Solar system from a generalized direction in space, over the Sun and Planets and back out of the Solar system to continue on spaceward (look it up for details)! Thus, our consciousness is primarily in fact a magnetic phenomenon and only secondarily an electrical phenomenon! This was the last lesson gained in my personal awareness! The BMC flow is the backdrop for the combined human unconsciousness that resides collectively within the unconsciousness that is the sum total of all human ENS awareness. The actual basis for this awareness is coded into the mechanism of personal and collective DNA/RNA expression as a species. Thus there is the background personal unconsciousness of the physical body as well as the background collective unconsciousness of the entire human race! This is why psychic phenomena is more readily perceived at night than during the daytime. This is simply because there is less human psychic interference due to the plethora of awake and conscious human beings nearby in your personal localized area of vicinity around you.

I despise the use of the words witches and wizards but the people usually labeled as such are of course much more active at night time than during the day as a matter of course. This is due to less “psychic” interference in their directed affairs of people-influencing. How better to influence someone than when their CNS consciousness is flitting about the BMC and their ENS is open to intentional influence. This technique is effective since persons do not seem to actively monitor their ENS upon return. Their awareness is not sufficiently subtle to be able to actively sense outside manipulations. Perhaps they may “feel” a general unease in the background of their beingness as a result of the conscious manipulations perpetrated by others. The political control of our local environment has subjugated the reality of psychic events to that of sheer nonsense out of both ignorance and fear as those in power lack the subtle skills necessary for both detection and utilization. However, the background general awareness of CNS group-think is very apparent to those of sufficient sensitivity.

Both the words science and magic are essentially one and the same as the phenomenon alluded to by both are, yes, “one and the same”! Whether you use the tools of science or the tools of magic the truth is that the result will be the same regardless! This is because conscious intent is the secret to both of these schemes! However, the tools utilized by science are seemingly much more powerful than those utilized by the mind only. This is the true reason that the concept of “science” was invented in the first place. Science actually accomplishes while magic only realistically influences! Also, the scientific method (SM) is only an investigative methodology. The effect of using the SM and the resulting body of knowledge gained and interpreted as such are “loosly” referred to as “science”, in the layman’s generalized terms only. Magic spells are utilized by “magicians” to assist in the conscious focusing of intent in order to influence the course of human events by psychic means. This is the only real difference between science and magic! Influence by the power and interpretation of data or influence by the power of mind! However, scientists and magicians are only people and all of their foibles! This is the true reason why the scientific method was conceived and utilized as a tool. This is also why it has gained such wide acceptance and mystique, as science is indeed a very powerful tool! [1-8].

Conclusion

I have left a lot out of the discussion and I have only alluded to facts, awareness and states of being. This is simply due to the fact that any concrete examples are so very difficult to find and those few are so very difficult to measure, thus not very scientific indeed! It does not help the fact that all current “science” only looks at the electrical aspects of consciousness rather than the magnetic aspects of consciousness! I am sure that I am not the first to make these kinds of statements and no, I am not insane or deluded. It is almost as if you just one day wake up with the awareness of understanding. I also do realize that this seems to be a “cop out” as it were but it is as it is! The actual “secret” is to have firmly lodged within your beingness the goal to which you are consciously seeking and actively moving towards. Good luck in your own search for validation and self evidence! Any questions may be addressed to: edward.f.block.iv@gmail.com.
