We have already known that child psychology is more times sensitive than other young adult. Concerning this issue, I want to explain one case study I did. It is a case of schoolgirl who suffered with child rapes in many times in tuition center, school, and even college while she was less than 18 years in age. The main cause was lack of love of parent and ignorance on child behaviors. She always expects a lot of love from her parent specially father, but her father had very rude behavior with her daughter while she was present in her home. Even she could not eat her breakfast with her father.

Then she became keen interested to get love and respect from other people both male students and male teachers. In her education center, there were different behaviors male students and male teachers who speak false softness and false lovely, but she unknowingly believed them. Considering her nature, they arranged dating in resorts and hotels, but she became victim many times (about 25 times) what raised the result as suicidal tendency in her mind. She also attended 3 times suicide events. Considering these accidents, her mother came to me explaining her all histories even house environment and behavior of her father's alcoholic habits.

I motivated her to attend the counseling sessions for both of her and her parents. It took time more than 50 episodes to encourage her to live surrounding different types of societies where her father was also one of the members of the same societies. At the beginning, she was educated till 12 grades. She joined college and study in Social Studies in the Bachelor level. Now, she graduated master's degree in clinical psychology and has been involving in social works, but she lost her father due to realize his past bitter behavior with his daughter. The most strong and motivated change was to continue her further dedication after attending the counseling.

My recommendation is that "lack of parents love to their daughters in school age" creates a critical effect and face a bitter challenge for their life. So, it is recommended to be a good friend of own child and keep open mind for their own decisions specially to the girl child even their choice required in home or school both in the school age. If Parent do not give pressure on work and burden on decision specially to their daughters in school age, it encourages creative environment and positive psychological changes for children brain development specially in school age.
