

Dry Eye Syndrome

Gowhar Ahmad*

Director, Department of Ophthalmology, Florence Hospital Multispeciality Center, Chanapora Srinagar, Kashmir, India

Corresponding Author: Gowhar Ahmad, Director, Department of Ophthalmology, Florence Hospital Multispeciality Center, Chanapora Srinagar, Kashmir, India.

Received: July 02, 2019; Published: August 01, 2019

Dry eye syndrome is a very common ophthalmic disorder here is a brief update on some of the causes of dry eye syndrome

They are as follows

- People using contact lenses have higher incidence of dry eyes
- Studies have shown that people with depression have higher tendency of dry eyes
- Antidepressants increase the risk of dry eyes

Other causes are

- After Lasik
- Rheumatoid arthritis
- Psoriasis syndrome
- Both primary and secondary
- K C Sicca
- Gout
- H Z Ophthalmic
- Psoriasis
- I B Syndrome
- Anorexia nervosa
- Dengue fever

- Osteoarthritis
- Ankylosing spondylitis
- S L E
- Radiotherapy
- Chemotherapy.

Volume 2 Issue 8 September 2019

© All rights are reserved by Gowhar Ahmad.