Statements we keep hearing about that men are only visual inclined creatures and they cannot control themselves. Some had gone far and claimed that it is women who seduce men and irritate their hidden deep uncontrollable instincts, to surface on, by taking their junk snap selfie shoots on social media, in a provocation ways and many seems to be just the horny dudes who send their tiny manhood to women to initiate romance triggers endless lust. Some women are just famous and very popular and post their selfie in one way or another, especially if she have that tempting toned beautiful body and thus men would go crazy by such triggering posts, and reward her by their shallow assumptions by sending her their hot tip. Obviously, all men kept their brains in their trousers when it came to women.

The kept yearning question why many men do are just like that, behaviour in such nuisance way, and send their manpower to women and in many instances to women they do not know in person and never met, like in the cyber space. There are a number of reasons why that is happening, and it must be the genetic makeup of most men.

It should be noted that even nowadays with the advanced technology of the internet, men have gone on a fake anonymous profile and post their genitals, and watch out the many likes they might earn, and how many women will be provoked and responded. By that way, they never been figured out nor caught up. I think personally, women deserve better attitudes and conducts, rather than this ill conduct and approach, from idiotic psycho-manic cyber men. Yet, others would argue, but it just seems that most men brain cannot process anything just this. Well, I believe this is not proper behaviour for whatever reasons. It is just a manic sick attitude depict shallowness, emptiness and disconnectedness from reality.

In many instances, women encountered such men attitudes online by sending their disgusting genitals. Women always find that offensive, though minority like attention and find it amusing for their own reasons, and many more which is not the scope of this personal review in here. To my mind, I am just raising up the issue and exploring it in depth; why such ill-conduct and behaviour of men toward women exist.

Such behaviour could escalate sometimes and get diverted into something worse unexpectedly. Even some deviated priests and Muslim men, who are supposed to be trusted and respected scholars, with that long wise beards that they did grow purposely and supposedly well respected, have gone behind their wives, on their high tech tools, and make all sorts of unbelievable things on the internet to have that thrill unrevealed clandestinely. Then with the chosen moments unlock that cabins secretly, and the inevitable happens. It is merely like breathes a new life to their exhausted manpower, and thus their engine starts up and it is much louder and sounds angry.

Why men like to undo the buttons of their trousers, and point to that thing they have and expect women to look at. Many women do not like that and they question what was so special about that thing. All men had that thing anyway, but the issue all men brain are the same and cannot see beyond that tiny floppy piece of a flash. They think that thing is something special and they are all so proud of it though it is ridiculous. They think that their open fly is precious and every woman expecting that.

On the other hand, men simply always blame women for their lack of self-control. They just call women to be shamed and blamed for their own non-sense conduct. Do they think they will impress women by their private parts revealed as such? In my opinion, the general explanation always had gone for men to give them the excuse that they are naturally visual inclined creatures, without self-control and women are not. So the logic of an argument which is maybe better for a woman is to cover up in modesty in the public, in order, to avoid triggering and provocation of their instinct, and to receive the full respect. Also, it would spare women lives when a law is neither existing nor exercised. However, some of those men even seeing a totally covered women in black, as a hot moving subject, provocative and sexy appealing, that would be irresistible. In that concept, then the issue is with men themselves, and for certain, is not with women.

Of course, its personal issues when it comes to dressing up. However, the old say, 'flies fly around honey to suck it up'. I assume every place has its own people and the followers, and the likes, as for instance the strippers, belly dancers, and night girls and so on. So mixing up things is really hideous, uncivilized and unacceptable.

The scientific explanation beyond that attitude explained for their hormone testosterone shooting up and firing high and in countries like Libya, the old mantra suggested feeding them 'cannophor' perhaps to exercise a shutdown of their uncontrollable sexuality.

Men should adopt the self-control of their hungry bodies and such a behavior should not be tolerated or excused whatsoever, especially when there is a law in place, enforced, and implemented. However, in some places, there is a lack of such a law enforcing thing, and thus men take an advantage for their sick ego to impose on women seriously. Some women described that part as someone dead decayed worm and find it awful and outrage. On the contrary, the debate had gone in some cases, with some women who find that interesting and to be visual too as men. Also, the debate raised the issue that men tend as well to send their thing to young school girls, old women and modesty dressed men. So in that case the problem is really with men themselves no matter what. Men should reconsider when they want to conduct such an act, because that woman can be a daughter, a sister, a mother and a wife.

Amazingly men mind are formulated differently to perceive things. I think women should impose a respect to herself by having an education; a degree to have her independence and self respect and stand for a cause and a point in her life and not being a tool to manipulate, copulate or a belonging. A woman should just assume to look after herself and her kids maybe in certain parts of her life.

Some men have that concept in their ill made brain of that women asking for it. In that case, men will pay for it or someone will give it to you by their full consent, and that's another issue which has its solo implication and not again the scope in this personal view. Some described such selfie as an eye rape which just reflect and show men dominance and arrogance. Even some said that when a woman is being nice to a gentle man by little statement, men misinterpret that kindness and signal it wrongly as it proves in fact that men brain cannot handle nor process the conveyed message properly. It is really dishearten and sad to learn such attitude toward the counterpart; women.

Men should differentiate between right and wrong and exercise self-control and such acts best ignored and disapproved, so they learn it is unacceptable and uncivilized. Sadly, some men think women are sex-driven, and can be twisted by such conducts.

I read once in a small novel about Africa, that men have sex in their mind all the time, as men are supposed to do. This book stated that science and research proved that average man thought about his genitals over 60 times a day and even an average man at his daily chores had all those thoughts in his mind; thoughts of pushing and shoving. Did a man think about sex start to leer, or open his mouth and show his pink-velvet tongue? That tongue which is full of all kind of germs. Science also proved that men are slave to only their genitals and belly. It seems they are preoccupied by those thoughts all day long.

We humans being, all have the chance to upgrade and have a book to read and acquire a new knowledge rather than occupied by non sense. Reading tells us about other life, a new prospect and liberation to consider. Books can explain humanness to us and open up our horizon, differently and in a better way. It shapes us to work in pressure and take the challenge to be a better person and have a meaning in life and to be valued. It merely feeds our mind. It deepens our lives and prospects. It is like travel and exploration the unknown and taking off those lockers away. Books are brain foods and it kindles the plenty of storages.

We live in an era of dystopia and the book could be the ideal solution if we take a close look at.

Infact, we cannot move forward and innovate if one is only continuing drinking, or eating, or indulging in sex.
